Mounds Mall gets ready to salute America July 21

Red, white and blue are the obvious colors one sees when entering Mounds Mall as the mall gets ready to salute America and its great sports traditions July 17-21 during its annual July sidewalk sale.

Two fund-raising activities will be take place, one with a local flavor and one dear to the hearts of Americans.

THE FIRST is a sale of the All-American drink, Coca-Cola, to benefit Anderson's Homework Hotline. Twelve-packs of Coke canned products will be on sale for $2.99 with all proceeds going to benefit the not-for-profit hotline.

A gigantic 24-foot papier-mâché replica of the Statue of Liberty, made by students in Pike Township, will be on display at the mall with donations being accepted to help with restoration costs.

According to a recent article, nearly $65 million is still needed to defray costs for the statue and for the Ellis Island restoration. Chrysler chairman Lee Iacocca is national campaign chairman for the efforts, which have raised $160 million so far.

TWO LOCAL GROUPS have volunteered their services to assist in the fund-raising — the Senior Citizens Community Center and the Soroptimists. More are welcome to do so by calling the Mounds Mall office.

Seyfert's Potato Chips and WAXT Radio are sponsoring a "chip shot" contest to also assist in raising money. Basketball fans are asked to enter the contest for just a $1 entry fee with all money going to the restoration fund.

Those entered will try their skills with Nerf basketballs. Every person will have 30 seconds to make baskets and the winners will win special prizes from Seyfert's. The "chip shot" contest will take place at 4 p.m. July 20 on the mall stage and all of those entered will receive a Seyfert's coupon.

DON HEIN, sports director of WTHR Channel 13, will be special emcee of the "Red White and Blue" Fashion Show July 20 at 2 p.m.

Keeping with the American theme, fashions will be from the 1940s and 1950s. There will be will be repeated July 21 at 2 p.m.

A special attraction of the fashion shows is planned — the first 100 persons will receive a free American flag.

THE MALL HAS been adorned with over 3,000 American flags which have been up since the hostage situation in the Middle East. Over 600 other flags have been colored and pasted by local schoolchildren and add a festive touch to the promotion.

The Indianapolis Colts, which open their training camp in Anderson that weekend, will be participating in the sports-related activities in two ways.

The Colts cheerleaders will be at the mall at 2:30 p.m. July 20 for an autograph session and routine performance. A highlight film featuring 1984 at a glance will be shown at 3 p.m. July 20, and a member of the Colts staff will conduct a question and answer session.

Venezuela sees end of dictator's rule

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela mourns the death of 19th century dictator Antonio Guzmán after he was overthrown.

President Jaime Lusinchi ordered the funeral and repatriation from Paris, where Guzmán died.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ORDER was promulgated by Urdaneta Braschi, who wrote to the president that the remains were about to be moved to a common cemetery.

Urdaneta said the lease on the Guzmán cemetery, near Paris, ran out 43 years ago.

The illustrious American, as Guzmán liked to be called, either personally or by surrogate from 1870 to 1878, was the longest-ruling dictator in 19th century Venezuela.

Historians depict him as an enlightened despot, a man of letters, a man of organization and a weakness for European culture.

UNDER HIS RULE, CARACAS was rebuilt in Parisian style, with boulevards, an opera house and a museum. He died of cholera in 1878.

The National Regenerator, another of his titles, created a centralized government, modernized the economy, encouraged foreign loans and investments and gave generous commissions.

He built roads, improved communications and established free, obligatory primary education. He also oversaw the construction of the Congress building and the Flores.

"At least Guzmán was a man of his time," he told the press. "He took the country out of the darkness and into the light."

Dear Karen

An opportunity to use the pretty note paper you gave me at Christmas - and thank you for the shower list for my birthday - it looks so pretty sitting at the corner of the bathtub that I probably won't open it for a while.

I'm glad you, John and Faye could be part of my birthday celebration. I guess getting older does have some good points.

Come see me when you can.

families, prostitutes, and bar and massage girls at prices ranging from $50 to $150, police said, and the suspects claimed that none of the infants had been kidnaped. Police said Kris and the women often used middlemen to negotiate the deals.

Police quoted Kris as saying most of the children were sold to adoption agents in Sweden, Britain and West Germany at prices usually ranging from $500 to $1,000, though some better-looking children drew up to $2,500.

At Kris' house the raiders found two boxes of correspondence with foreigners who bought children for adoption, but many letters had been burned in a tray before they arrived, police said. They said foreigners either went to the house to select children or relied on photographs sent by Kris.

Investigators said they first suspected Kris of selling children abroad last year and raided his house, which is officially designated as a nursery. They found five children there and no firm evidence of a sales operation.

Police said that in Tuesday's raid they found a March 28 letter to Kris from the Swedish Society for International Child Welfare saying it was withdrawing its certification from Kris' nursery because several "irregularities" had been discovered in the adoption of Thai children by Swedes using Kris' service.

The undisputed gem of the neighborhood is the Ruskaup House, built for Frederick Ruskaup and family in 1892. Ruskaup, a German immigrant, had built the adjacent brick grocery and tavern in 1875 and lived above the store. Over the years, he also had income from a number of rental properties, including the five doubles across the street (also completed in 1892). The second owners were the Ratcliffes, a family of African-American siblings (a brother and four sisters, including three teachers), who grew up in the neighborhood.

Architects Vonnegut and Bohn (also designers of The Athenaeum, Herron School of Art Main Building, and L. S. Ayres) designed Ruskaup's house which was constructed at the cost of about $12,000. The home features five fireplaces, Victorian and Arts-and-Crafts light fixtures, carved woodwork (look for Ruskaup's initials on a shield in the dining room and on the intricate stairway), and a griffin behind the parlor pocket doors. Parquet floors (with four different patterns) were added to the house in 1901. The wrap-around front porch, back porch, and upper sleeping porch have been restored. The house has a new faux-slate and copper roof. Dugger and Garland, the house's third owners, have restored several rooms, including the kitchen which has Becky's custom-made cabinets with turned legs revealing the room's parquet floor. In 1990 she received a special craftsmanship award from the National Trust for Historic Preservation for the design and restoration of the kitchen. John is an objects conservator specializing in metal sculpture and is an associate of Venus Bronze Works. Becky is a decorative painter and owner of The Garland Guild (of note are her company's restoration of the decorative painting in the Wisconsin State Capitol and the Indiana State Capitol, including recently, the Indiana Supreme Court).

Property of Ed Norman and Bob Renaker

Bob Renaker and Ed Norman purchased the 1890s cottage at 710 N. Highland Avenue from the family of Mary Katherine Clendening in October of 2002. The Clendening family moved to the neighborhood in the 1950s. Son Paul and his wife Susie lived nearby in Springdale neighborhood and related that in their wilder days they would come to Cottage Home to barhop. Paul also recalled rescuing his mother in a rowboat during one of the neighborhood floods in about 1960.

Renaker, a jewelry designer, and Norman, owner of Cottage Home-based Norman Graphic Arts, bought the house as an investment property. The in-progress restoration of the cottage has included removing insulbrick siding, replacing rotted siding with salvaged clapboard siding, reroofing, rebuilding a back room and foundation, and replacing windowsills and trim. During the tour they will be working on the house.

Dear Aunt Faye,

Thank you for the Memorial you sent in Mike's name. It will be used in the Memorial Garden. We did have some good times that I'm thankful for.
